Apply scales to the tool sets Go to the Tools Cofre panel, choose the toolset for which á e you want to create a scale and select Properties> Define Scale. 4.1, see the tabs and panels frequently used on a second monitor Optimize your dual monitor workspace! If you often access chips and panels like the list of chips and brands, you can click on them and drag them to the second monitor so that they are always in sight. Simply click with the right button in the space and select Á e Á e create an area from space. Á e Á e Customize keyboard shortcuts Revu keyboard shortcuts can be customized! In this way, you can reassign existing revu shortcuts to match similar functions of other programs that you already use or add new shortcuts to create your own personal list of frequently used commands. Visit our online store. This allows your tools tools scale in relation to any calibrated drawing or viewport they are placed in. Or, follow Tip # 9 followed by the translation process, and the translated text will appear in your Markups List summary report. Automatically auto-size text boxes If you always want your text boxes to be perfectly sized for the text they contain, go to Revu> Preferences> Tools > Markup and select the checkbox eAAAAutosize Text Box and Callout Markups eAAA. For example, a symbol in a toolset configured with a baseline scale of 1eÁÁÁÁ = 1eÁÁÁÁ becomes proportionately smaller when placed on a document set to Á 1eÁÁÁÁ = 10eÁÁÁÁ scale. This is especially useful if you need to make any changes to a text-based document but only have the PDF version. Then you can easily visualize the status of markups by color-coding them so that the colors change automatically as you change the status of the markup. 3.
